Wearing a mantilla, in order to make it plain to the public that Spain was taking a part in the national rejoicings, I was taken through the streets of London in the triumph of the great queen. As a rule, on such occasions, one fixes ones face in a smile, tries to think of something agreeable, and bows from side to side with the regularity of a clockwork figure. As it was, I was interested to watch the crowd lining the streets through which the procession passed, for I had not been in England before, and was curious to see all I could of the English people. And as I looked at the sea of faces, it seemed to me that they were...
